CHRISTMAS BALLAD AT BRENGLE'S No. 129 King st.

Mary had a little cake, Its ice was white as snow : 'Twas fair to see and sweet to taste, For Brengle makes them so.

She took the cake to school one day: It was against the rule; For children all love Brengle's cakes And take a bite in school.

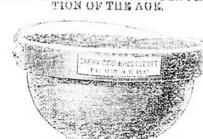

And so the teacher took the cake And eat it on the sly; And after school, with solemn face, Sho told the child a lic. She said, the mice had eat the cake

And thought it very nice: That all of them that tasted it Had turned to candy mice. The candy mice the windows show

And tempt the boys to break, Were just the very little mice That nibbled Mary's cake. But Mary was not fooled at all. "Too thin," was all she spake, The teacher quick to Brengle's skipped

And bought another cake. And Brengle has lots of such Cakes on hand for Christmas. His CHRISTMAS CAKES, Black, Fruit, Pound, Jelly and Fancy, Ornamental and Plain, are sold cheaper than they can be manufactured at home. Also Croam Pulls, Tarts and Pastry, Candies and Tally of all kinds. Pies a specialty. Fruits, Ruts, Confectioneries, Caromals and Sugared Fruits. Alexandria Daily Gazette $6 per snassa

-1881---

The ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE, begun in 1799, is the oldest newspaper in the State, and the only daily published in Northern Virginia, It has survived, with few exceptions, all the public presses in America which saw with it the dawn of the nineteenth century. It lives, too, not in decay, but full of life and vigor, giving all the news, telling the truth without fear, favor or affection, trenching on the privacy of no man's home, but full to the brim with all public information, and giving daily honest udgments of public men and public measures.

It furnishes the news telegrams of the New York Associated Press and of Reuter's European agency, being, with but three exceptions, the only paper between Baltimore and Richmond that is thus connected with the great fountsins of the world's news.

With the coming year all the long tried and improved methods of making a standard newspaper will be continued, with such additional facilities as past experience justifies the proprietor in believing will add to the capacity of the Gazette to serve its readers. It expects to render faithful service to the city, the state and the country by a candid criticism of men and events in the interest of the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

To meet all the demands upon it, the Gezette will be made a WASHINGTON and RICH. MOND NEWSPAPER, as wall as an ALEX-ANDRIA JOURNAL. The Richmond and Washington news of past years has left little to improve, but yet greater effort will be made to insure absolute parfection in these departments,

The city of Alexandria will find as usual its daily history in each evening's issue, and the intelligence of that section of the Commonwealth which nature has bound to Alexandria by the curvature of its mountains or the courses of its rivers as well as that portion linked to us by the iron bands of railways, will be assiduously

The Business and Commercial columns of the Gazette will be filled with the earliest and most exact commercial news, edited with such painstaking care as will render an error, where even slight errors are dangerous, impossible.

The Cattle Markets of all the leading points of the world whose rates affect this market will be quoted, and regular statements of the Baltimore, Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria sales of cattle will appear.

The Flour, Grain and Produce movements will be noted daily, and the sales of the Alexandria and neighboring markets given with accuracy and dispatch. The Grocery and other markets will receive constant attention, and the money or stock markets of the country epito. mized for its columns, full details being given to all stocks, &c, which find investors in this section of the country.

The advertising columns of the Gazette offer inducements which experience has shown to afford greater returns for a small investment than any other which can be made.

Scene in a Bank,

As exciting, and for a time thrilling, incident occurred on Monday afternoon in the private office of the president of the Mechanics' National Bank of Baltimore. It was the narrow escape from shooting of Mr. Robert T. Baldwin, the president, by a young lady supposed to be slightly deranged, who assaulted him with a loaded pistol in her hand and threatened to take his life. It was about 2 o'clock-the busiest hour in the bank. Mr. Charles R. Coleman, the cashier, having something to attend to outside, was in the not of leaving his office, which is just in front of Mr. Baldwin's, when he encountered in the passage, just ontoring, a young lady apparently about twenty two years of age, good looking, and wearing cyo glasses. She said to him blandly and almest sweetly, "Can you tell me which is the president's room?" Bowing with that courtly politoness which belongs to Mr. Coleman, he waved his hand towards the president's room. with the remark, "You will find him in there," and passed out, noticing as he turned to direct her that Mr. Wm. T. Brigham was in the offine, scated alongside of Mr. Baldwin and conversing with him. It appears that when Mr. Brigham saw the lady coming ia, he hurriedly closed the interview, and arose and went out, leaving the president alone with the visiter-a thing that very seldom happens, as there are almost always two or three persons during bank hours waiting in either of the two connecting offices. Taking the chair Mr. Brigham had just vacated, the young lady seated herself with great self possession, and, looking calmly at Mr. Baldwin, inquired in a mild voice: "Is this the president?"

"It is," said Mr. Baldwin, throwing himself back in his chair with matter-of-fact politeness, and adding, "What is it I can do for you?"
"Do!" said the lady in a very different tone of voice, conveying the idea of great and sup-pressed emotion, "Do you know that you have already ruined my family?"

With astonishment and some embarrassment, Mr. Bildwin replied: "Why, no, madam! What is the trouble?"

"You have ruiged my family," said the lady, and rating her voice to a high pitch, and bringing her raised arm and clonched hand down with feres upon her knees, she continued, You have refused to discount my brother's note, and you must mak) reparation; I must have satisfaction."

Feeling, instantly, that he had a deranged woman to doal with, Mr. Baldwin assumed his greatest self possession, and said, quietly, "In what way can I give you satisfaction?' GOVERNMENT BONDS Rising, in a very dramatic manner, the young lady cried: "I say I will have satisfaction, or I will kill you!" Saying this, she draw a pistol from her pocket and levoled it at Mr. Beldwin's He arose instantly and caught both her arms. struggling with her until he could get behind her and partially pinion her arms. A young man in the bank hearing the excited words had come in, and also aided in getting the infuriated woman under control. With great difficulty the weapon was wrested from her hand before she could discharge it. Meantime another young man had gone out and feund a police efficer, who resched the entry just as the yuong lady, and the two men struggling with her, reached the end of the passage. Mr. Baldwin ordered the officer to take her into ousted v. She replied that she would not go except Air. Baldwin went also as a witness. The officer insisting on the same proceeding, the party proceeded to the Costral Station, where, at Mr. Bildwia's request, the young lady was placed under survoillance in a private room. He refused to lay any criminal charge, stating that he was satisfied the young lady was deranged. After some time friends of the young lady came and took her in charge. As she was leaving the station house she went up to Deputy Marshal Frey, as he was getting into his carriage, and demanded that he should give her her pistol, of which he had taken possession. Upon his re usal, she turned, and taking the arm of her sister, waved her hand to Mr. Bald-win and said: "You will see that I have not done with this matter.' On the record at the station house there apperrs the record, "Kate Ricketts, insane; re-turned to her friends." This is the sequal. The turned to her friends." This is the sequal. The young lady w Miss Ricketts adaughter of Wesley Ricketts, formerly one of the largest shipping merchants here. Of late she has been a contributor of capital in the firm of Wesley Ricketts & Son, and her brother some time ago opened an account in the Mechanics' Bank, subject either to his own or his sister's check. On Saturday Miss Ricketts came to the bank with a check for $100 to have it cashed. She was told by the teller that only $83 remained to the credit of the account, She immediately became greatly excited, and, saying there should be over $1.00. went behind the counter and examined the account. There it appeared that her brother had drawn cut $950, which she said she knew nothing about. All this has been learned by Mr. Baldwin since the occurrence, but he did not know it at 'he time. - Baltimere American.
